

21-Day Spiritual Journey of Prayer & Fasting

DEVOTIONAL · OCTOBER 12 – NOVEMBER 1, 2026

“Lord, Speak. We’re Listening.”

HEART · FAITH · TRUST · GENEROSITY · SACRIFICE · LEGACY · OBEDIENCE

WELCOME TO THE JOURNEY

Welcome to the Journey

Legacy is about more than what we build. It is about what we leave behind and the ways our faithfulness today can impact people we may never meet.

Over the next 21 days, we are inviting our entire church family into an intentional season of prayer, fasting, reflection, and listening. While our Legacy Campaign will eventually ask each household to prayerfully make a three-year financial commitment, this journey is not primarily about money. It is about positioning our hearts before God.

“Before we ask, ‘What should I give?’ we want to ask a deeper question: ‘Lord, what are You saying to me?’”

Our desire is that no one would make a commitment out of pressure, comparison, guilt, emotion, or obligation. Instead, we want each person and household to seek God personally and respond to what He places on their heart.

Over these 21 days, we will move through seven spiritual themes: Heart, Faith, Trust, Generosity, Sacrifice, Legacy, and Obedience. Each day includes Scripture, a short devotional reflection, a prayer focus, and space to record what you sense God saying.

Take your time. Resist the temptation to rush toward an answer. Allow this season to be about more than determining a number. Let God speak to your priorities, your fears, your faith, your plans, your relationship with money, and your vision for the generations that will come after us.

Our prayer is that by the end of these 21 days, we will not simply have learned more about a building campaign. We will have drawn closer to God and become more attentive to His voice.

MAKE ROOM FOR GOD

Our 21-Day Fast

Fasting is the intentional surrender of something we regularly consume, enjoy, or rely upon so that we can give greater attention to God.

We are not fasting to manipulate God, earn His favor, or force Him to give us an answer. We are fasting because our lives are often noisy, crowded, and distracted. Fasting helps us make room to pray, listen, and become more spiritually attentive.

During these 21 days, prayerfully choose a form of fasting that is appropriate for you. You may choose a Daniel-style fast, fast from one meal each day, eliminate certain foods or beverages, step away from social media or entertainment, or surrender something else that regularly takes your time and attention.

Those with medical, dietary, or other health concerns should choose a form of fasting that is appropriate and safe for their needs.

Whatever you choose, remember that fasting is more than simply giving something up. The goal is to replace that time or desire with intentional connection with God.

When you become aware of what you have surrendered, allow that moment to remind you to pray, read Scripture, worship, reflect, and listen.

DAY 1 • October 12, 2026

Search My Heart – Heart

Psalm 139:23–24

Search me, O God, and know my heart; Try me, and know my anxieties; And see if there is any wicked way in me, And lead me in the way everlasting.

David's prayer in Psalm 139 is a deeply personal one. He does not begin by asking God to change his circumstances or deal with someone else. Instead, he invites God to examine him. He asks God to search his heart, reveal what is there, and lead him in the way that is right.

That is an appropriate place for us to begin this 21-day journey.

As we prepare for the Legacy Campaign, it would be easy to focus immediately on finances, budgets, giving levels, or what we think we can manage over the next three years. But before we look at any of those things, we need to allow God to look at us.

There may be many emotions connected to this campaign. Some may feel excited. Others may feel uncertain or cautious. Some may already have questions about what participation will require. Others may feel anxious because finances are already tight. God is not asking us to hide any of those feelings. He simply invites us to bring them honestly before Him.

For the next 21 days, allow God to address whatever is beneath the surface. He may reveal fears, priorities, assumptions, habits, or even areas of resistance that need His attention. He may also remind you of His faithfulness and deepen your trust in Him.

Before we ask God what He wants us to give, we begin by asking Him what He wants to do in us.

PRAYER

Father, search my heart and show me anything that needs Your attention. Help me come into this journey honestly and without defensiveness. Remove distractions, fear, pride, and preconceived ideas. Give me a heart that is open to Your voice and willing to follow where You lead.

DAY 2 · October 13, 2026

Where Is My Treasure? — Heart

Matthew 6:21

For where your treasure is, there your heart will be also.

Jesus often spoke about money and possessions because He understood how closely they are connected to the human heart. Money is rarely just money. It can represent security, comfort, freedom, achievement, opportunity, and our hopes for the future.

That is why conversations about giving can stir up so much within us. They touch areas of our lives that often feel very personal.

In Matthew 6, Jesus reminds us that where we place our treasure reveals something about where our hearts are anchored. He is not saying that it is wrong to save, plan, care for our families, or enjoy what God has provided. Scripture consistently teaches wisdom and stewardship. His concern is whether the things we possess have begun to possess us.

As we move toward a season of sacrificial generosity, this is an important question to consider. Are there areas of our financial lives that we find difficult to place before God? Are there plans or resources that we are willing to discuss with Him only if He agrees with what we have already decided?

Today is not about guilt. It is about awareness.

Invite God to show you what you value most and where you tend to look for security. Ask Him to help you hold everything He has given you with gratitude, wisdom, and open hands.

PRAYER

Lord, You know my heart and You know what I value. Show me where I have placed too much trust in things that cannot ultimately sustain me. Teach me to enjoy what You provide without allowing it to become more important than You or Your Kingdom.

DAY 3 • October 14, 2026

A Willing Heart — Heart

Exodus 35:5

Take from among you an offering to the Lord. Whoever is of a willing heart, let him bring it as an offering to the Lord: gold, silver, and bronze;

When the Israelites were preparing to build the tabernacle, Moses invited the people to participate by bringing what they had. Some brought gold and silver. Others brought fabric, materials, craftsmanship, and skill. What stands out in the passage is not simply what they gave, but the spirit in which they gave it.

They came with willing hearts.

That detail matters because God has always cared about more than outward action. It is possible to give while feeling resentful, pressured, or resistant. It is also possible to give from a place of joy because we understand that we are participating in something God is doing.

As we continue this journey, our first goal is not to arrive at a particular amount. Our first goal is to become willing.

Willingness means being open enough to ask God a sincere question and not determine the answer for Him ahead of time. It means saying, “Lord, if You want to challenge me, I am willing to listen. If You want to adjust my plans, I am willing to consider it. If You want to stretch my faith, I will not immediately say no.”

You may not yet know what God will ask of you through this campaign. That is okay. Today, simply offer Him your willingness.

PRAYER

Father, give me a willing heart. I do not want my response to this campaign to come from pressure or obligation. I want it to come from love, worship, and obedience. Help me become open to whatever You desire to show me during these 21 days.

DAY 4 • October 15, 2026

Walk By Faith – Faith

2 Corinthians 5:7

For we walk by faith, not by sight.

There are many things we can see when we look at our church today. We can see the ministries that already exist, the people currently being served, the limitations of our present facilities, and the needs that are already in front of us.

Faith, however, asks us to look beyond what is visible now.

A capital campaign naturally includes practical details such as plans, budgets, timelines, and construction costs. Those things are important, and faithful stewardship requires us to take them seriously. But the vision of what God may accomplish cannot be reduced to numbers on a page.

When we talk about building for the next generation, we are talking about people. We are thinking about children who will learn the Word of God, young adults who will discover their gifts, families who will find community, individuals who will come to faith, and people who may one day walk through our doors carrying needs we cannot yet imagine.

Faith allows us to invest in a future we cannot fully see.

Today, ask God to enlarge your vision. Instead of looking only at what exists now, begin to imagine what God may want to do through a church that has prepared faithfully for the future.

PRAYER

Lord, increase my faith and help me see beyond what is immediately in front of me. Give our church wisdom for the practical work ahead, but also give us vision to recognize the possibilities You are placing before us.

DAY 5 • October 16, 2026

Faith That Pleases God – Faith

Hebrews 11:6

But without faith it is impossible to please Him, for he who comes to God must believe that He is, and that He is a rewarder of those who diligently seek Him.

Hebrews 11 is filled with people who had to trust God without knowing exactly how everything would unfold. Abraham left familiar territory without knowing every detail of where he was going. Moses returned to Egypt knowing the assignment would be difficult. The Israelites stepped forward before they had all the answers.

Faith did not remove uncertainty from their lives. It gave them a reason to keep moving in spite of it.

We often think faith means feeling completely confident, but that is not always the case. Sometimes faith simply means deciding that God is trustworthy even when we still have questions.

As you consider your own participation in the Legacy Campaign, you may become aware of places where fear and faith are competing with one another. You may wonder how a commitment will fit alongside other responsibilities. You may be cautious about stretching beyond what feels comfortable.

Those concerns do not make you faithless. They are invitations to bring your questions honestly before God.

Faith does not require us to ignore reality. It asks us to make sure reality is not the only thing shaping our decisions.

PRAYER

Father, strengthen my faith. Show me where fear has become stronger than trust. Help me remember that I do not need to have every answer before I can follow You. Teach me to move forward with wisdom and confidence in Your character.

DAY 6 • October 17, 2026

God Is Able — Faith

Ephesians 3:20

Now to Him who is able to do exceedingly abundantly above all that we ask or think, according to the power that works in us, 21 to Him be glory in the church by Christ Jesus to all generations, forever and ever. Amen.

There are moments when the vision God places before us feels larger than the resources we can see. In those moments, it is natural to start calculating what seems realistic.

We ask what we can afford, what the congregation can raise, what can reasonably be accomplished, and whether the vision is too large.

There is nothing wrong with asking practical questions. Good stewardship requires careful planning. However, Ephesians 3:20 reminds us not to confuse our limitations with God's limitations.

God is able to do more than we can imagine, and He often accomplishes His work by inviting ordinary people to participate together. What seems impossible for one person may become possible when an entire church responds faithfully and prayerfully.

Perhaps part of this campaign is allowing God to expand our understanding of what He can do through collective obedience.

Today, rather than asking only, "What are we capable of accomplishing?" ask God, "What do You desire to accomplish through us?"

PRAYER

God, help me remember that You are not limited by what I can see or calculate. Give me wisdom to be responsible and faith to believe beyond my own ability. Show our church what becomes possible when we respond to You together.

DAY 7 • October 18, 2026

Trust With All Your Heart — Trust

Proverbs 3:5–6

Trust in the Lord with all your heart, And lean not on your own understanding; In all your ways acknowledge Him, And He shall direct your paths.

Most of us prefer to understand what we are doing before we do it. We like knowing how things will work, what the outcome will be, and whether we can manage every possible consequence.

Trust becomes especially important when we cannot answer every question.

As this spiritual journey continues, you may find yourself becoming more aware of areas God is challenging. Perhaps He is drawing your attention to financial habits, future plans, priorities, or the way you respond when you feel uncertain.

Proverbs does not tell us to stop thinking or abandon wisdom. Instead, it reminds us not to make our own understanding the only source of guidance.

Trust means acknowledging that God sees more than we see. He knows our responsibilities, our needs, our future, and the circumstances we cannot predict.

When we place our lives before Him, we are not trusting blindly. We are trusting the One who knows us fully.

PRAYER

Father, help me trust You with the areas of my life I most want to control. Give me wisdom where I need wisdom, but also help me recognize when You are asking me to move beyond what I can fully explain or predict.

DAY 8 • October 19, 2026

The Lord Will Provide — Trust

Genesis 22:14

And Abraham called the name of the place, The-Lord-Will-Provide; as it is said to this day, “In the Mount of the Lord it shall be provided.”

The story of Abraham and Isaac is one of the most difficult stories in Scripture, but one of its central themes is Abraham’s trust in the provision of God.

Abraham came to know God as Jehovah Jireh, the Lord who provides, because he had walked with God long enough to know that obedience and provision are often connected in ways we do not immediately understand.

Financial decisions can expose how deeply we depend on a sense of security. When we think about giving sacrificially, questions naturally arise. What if an unexpected expense comes? What if our circumstances change? What if we need this money later?

Those questions should not be dismissed. Wise stewardship matters. Yet they also give us an opportunity to ask where our ultimate confidence rests.

As you pray today, think back over your life. There have likely been times when God provided in ways you could not have predicted. His provision may have come through people, opportunities, resources, timing, wisdom, or circumstances you did not expect.

Remembering what God has done in the past can help us trust Him with the future.

PRAYER

Jehovah Jireh, thank You for every way You have provided for me. Help me remember Your faithfulness when fear begins to shape my decisions. Teach me to steward responsibly while continuing to trust that You are my source.

DAY 9 • October 20, 2026

Seek First The Kingdom – Trust

Matthew 6:33

But seek first the kingdom of God and His righteousness, and all these things shall be added to you.'

In Matthew 6, Jesus speaks to people who were concerned about real needs. They were thinking about food, clothing, and daily provision. Jesus does not tell them that those concerns are unimportant. Instead, He calls them to put those concerns in proper order.

He tells them to seek the Kingdom first.

That same principle speaks to us today.

Most of us carry multiple responsibilities. We are caring for families, planning for the future, managing households, saving, paying bills, and trying to make wise decisions. The question is not whether those responsibilities matter. The question is whether God is allowed to shape the way we approach them.

Seeking the Kingdom first means bringing every area of life under God's leadership, including our finances.

As you continue discerning what God may ask you to contribute, consider whether your planning begins with Him or merely leaves room for Him after everything else has been decided.

PRAYER

Jesus, teach me to seek Your Kingdom first. Help me bring my priorities, resources, responsibilities, and plans under Your leadership. Show me where my life needs to be reordered so that You truly have first place.

DAY 10 • October 21, 2026

First, Give Yourself – Generosity

2 Corinthians 8:5

And not only as we had hoped, but they first gave themselves to the Lord, and then to us by the will of God

When Paul describes the generosity of the Macedonian churches, he points out something important. Before they gave financially, they gave themselves to the Lord.

That order matters.

Christian generosity does not begin with a pledge card. It begins with surrender.

If God has access to our hearts, then He also has access to every part of our lives. Our time, gifts, abilities, relationships, plans, opportunities, and resources all become part of our discipleship.

As we reach the midpoint of this spiritual journey, this is a good time to stop and reflect. You may feel pressure to have an answer by now, but that is not the purpose of these 21 days. The goal is not to rush toward a financial number. The goal is to make sure our hearts belong fully to God.

Before asking what you should give, ask whether there is any part of your life you are still withholding from Him.

Sometimes the greatest act of generosity is not financial. Sometimes it is simply saying, “Lord, I am Yours, and everything I have is available to You.”

PRAYER

Lord, I give myself to You again. My life, my plans, my resources, my future, and everything I have belong to You. Continue shaping my heart so that whatever I give flows from a life that is already surrendered.

DAY 11 • October 22, 2026

Purpose In Your Heart — Generosity

2 Corinthians 9:7

So let each one give as he purposes in his heart, not grudgingly or of necessity; for God loves a cheerful giver.'

Paul's teaching in 2 Corinthians 9 gives us an important principle for this entire campaign. Giving should never be driven by manipulation, pressure, or comparison.

Each person is instructed to give as he has purposed in his heart.

That means your commitment is personal. It is something to be worked out prayerfully between you and God, and where appropriate, together with your household.

One of the easiest distractions in a campaign like this is wondering what someone else is doing. We may compare our resources, our giving, or our level of sacrifice with another person or family.

Comparison will always distort discernment.

Someone else's obedience is not your assignment. Your responsibility is to listen for God's direction in your own life.

The goal of this campaign is not that everyone gives the same amount. It is that each person responds honestly, willingly, and faithfully to what God places on his or her heart.

PRAYER

Father, guard me from comparison and pressure. Help me hear Your voice clearly and trust the direction You give me. Let my response come from conviction rather than obligation.

DAY 12 · October 23, 2026

The Grace Of Generosity — Generosity

2 Corinthians 9:8

'And God is able to make all grace abound toward you, that you, always having all sufficiency in all things, may have an abundance for every good work.'

Generosity is often treated as something we do when we have extra. Scripture presents it differently. Generosity is part of the work God does in us as we learn to see everything we have as a gift from Him.

Think about what God has entrusted to you. Some of it may be financial, but much of it is not. You have time, abilities, influence, relationships, experiences, knowledge, opportunities, and a testimony.

All of those things can be used for His purposes.

A generous life begins with a different understanding of ownership. Instead of asking, "How much of what I have should I give to God?" we begin asking, "How does God want me to steward what already belongs to Him?"

That shift changes the conversation.

It reminds us that generosity is not merely about one campaign or one season. God wants to form people who are open-handed in every area of life.

PRAYER

God, make me a generous person. Help me see everything I have as something You have entrusted to me. Teach me to use my resources, time, gifts, and opportunities in ways that honor You and bless others.

DAY 13 • October 24, 2026

It Cost Me Something – Sacrifice

2 Samuel 24:24

Then the king said to Araunah, “No, but I will surely buy it from you for a price; nor will I offer burnt offerings to the Lord my God with that which costs me nothing.” So David bought the threshing floor and the oxen for fifty shekels of silver.

When David was offered everything he needed to make an offering at no personal cost, he refused. He understood that sacrifice meant bringing something to God that actually required something from him.

That does not mean every act of giving must create financial hardship. Nor does it mean we should make irresponsible decisions in order to prove our faith.

But there is a difference between giving from what costs us nothing and giving in a way that requires intentional adjustment.

For one person, sacrifice may mean postponing a purchase. For another, it may mean reducing spending in a particular area. Someone else may decide to redirect money that would normally be used for a vacation, hobby, upgrade, or luxury.

The point is not the specific adjustment. The point is asking whether God is inviting us to make room for something eternal by releasing something temporary.

Today, allow God to define what sacrifice looks like in your life.

PRAYER

Father, show me what sacrificial generosity means for me. Keep me from acting out of pressure or trying to impress anyone. If You are asking me to rearrange something in my life, give me wisdom and willingness to do so.

DAY 14 • October 25, 2026

Jesus Sees The Sacrifice — Sacrifice

Mark 12:43–44

So He called His disciples to Himself and said to them, “Assuredly, I say to you that this poor widow has put in more than all those who have given to the treasury; 44 for they all put in out of their abundance, but she out of her poverty put in all that she had, her whole livelihood.

In Mark 12, Jesus watches people give their offerings at the temple. Many wealthy people contribute large amounts. Then a widow comes and gives two small coins.

From a purely financial perspective, her gift would have seemed insignificant compared with what others were giving.

Jesus saw it differently.

He understood the sacrifice represented by those two coins. He knew what they meant in the context of her life.

This passage is an important reminder for a church-wide campaign because it protects us from measuring generosity only by dollar amounts.

A large gift may represent great sacrifice for one person. A much smaller gift may represent equally great, or even greater, sacrifice for another.

God sees the whole picture.

He sees the family making difficult adjustments. He sees the senior living on a fixed income. He sees the young person giving from an allowance or first paycheck. He sees every act of sincere obedience.

You do not need to compare your response with anyone else's. God knows what faithfulness looks like in your circumstances.

PRAYER

Jesus, help me remember that You see my heart and my situation completely. Free me from comparing what I give with what others give. Help me focus on being faithful to what You are asking of me.

DAY 15 · October 26, 2026

A Living Sacrifice – Sacrifice

Romans 12:1

I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that you present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable to God, which is your reasonable service.

Romans 12 reminds us that Christian sacrifice is not limited to money. Paul calls believers to offer their entire lives to God.

That gives us an important perspective as we move through this campaign.

A successful capital campaign would certainly include financial resources, but the deeper goal is spiritual transformation. We do not simply want to raise funds. We want to become a church that is more surrendered, more generous, more prayerful, more faithful, and more available to God.

Imagine what could happen if, alongside every financial commitment, people also renewed their commitment to serve, disciple others, pray, invite, encourage, mentor, and participate more fully in the life of the church.

That would be a legacy worth building.

The offering God desires most is not simply what we place on a pledge card. He desires people whose lives are available to Him.

PRAYER

Lord, I offer my whole life to You again. Let this journey change more than my giving. Make me more surrendered, faithful, generous, and available to Your purposes.

DAY 16 • October 27, 2026

Tell The Next Generation – Legacy

Psalm 78:4

We will not hide them from their children, Telling to the generation to come the praises of the Lord, And His strength and His wonderful works that He has done.

None of us arrived at this moment by ourselves.

Someone prayed before we did. Someone gave before we did. Someone taught Sunday School, led ministry, maintained a building, supported a church, preached the Gospel, served behind the scenes, and believed that another generation would come after them.

Much of what we benefit from today exists because previous generations were willing to invest in something beyond themselves.

Now we have the opportunity to do the same.

When we say that we are building for the next generation, we are not speaking only about children who are already part of our congregation. We are also thinking about people who have not yet arrived, families who have not yet moved into our community, young people who have not yet been born, and individuals who may one day walk through our doors searching for hope.

Legacy asks us to think beyond what we personally need right now.

Today, consider the people who invested in your spiritual life. Then ask God how you might do the same for those coming behind you.

PRAYER

Father, thank You for the people who prayed, served, sacrificed, and gave so that I could benefit today. Help me become part of that same story of faithfulness for the generation that comes after me.

DAY 17 • October 28, 2026

One Generation To Another – Legacy

Psalm 145:4

One generation shall praise Your works to another, and shall declare Your mighty acts.

Psalm 145 describes faith moving from one generation to another. One generation experiences God, and then tells the next generation what He has done.

That is the heart of legacy.

It is important for us to remember that the building itself is not the ultimate goal of this campaign. Buildings are tools. They give ministry room to happen.

The real legacy is found in the lives that will be touched within those spaces.

There may be children who learn Scripture there. Teenagers who discover their calling. Couples who receive support. Families who find community. People who grieve and are comforted. Individuals who come to know Christ. Ministry leaders who are trained. Neighbors who discover that the church is a place where they are welcomed and loved.

When we build, we are making room for ministry.

Today, ask God to help you see beyond walls, rooms, and square footage. Ask Him to help you see people.

PRAYER

Lord, keep the purpose of this campaign clear in our hearts. Let everything we build serve the mission You have given us. Help us create space where generations can encounter You, grow in faith, and share that faith with others.

DAY 18 • October 29, 2026

Preparing For Someone Else To Build – Legacy

1 Chronicles 29:3

Moreover, because I have set my affection on the house of my God, I have given to the house of my God, over and above all that I have prepared for the holy house, my own special treasure of gold and silver:

David had a deep desire to build the temple, but God determined that his son Solomon would be the one to complete it.

David could have withdrawn his support because he would not be the person remembered for finishing the project. Instead, he spent considerable time and resources preparing for Solomon to succeed.

That is one of the clearest pictures of legacy in Scripture.

David understood that something did not have to be completed in his lifetime or attached to his name in order for it to be worth investing in.

That is an important lesson for us.

Some of the fruit of this campaign may not be visible immediately. Some of the ministries that will benefit may not exist yet. Some of the people who will be reached may not arrive for years.

We may never know every story connected to what we build today.

But God will.

Legacy is choosing to invest faithfully even when another generation may experience the greatest benefit.

PRAYER

Father, give me a heart like David's. Help me invest in what matters to You even when I may never see the full result. Teach me to value the success of the next generation as much as my own.

DAY 19 • October 30, 2026

Speak, Lord — Obedience

1 Samuel 3:10

Now the Lord came and stood and called as at other times, “Samuel! Samuel!” And Samuel answered, “Speak, for Your servant hears.”

Samuel was still young when God began speaking to him. At first, he did not even recognize the voice of the Lord. He assumed Eli was calling him.

Eventually, Eli helped Samuel understand what was happening and gave him a simple response to use: “Speak, Lord, for Your servant hears.”

There is something important about that posture.

Samuel was not demanding information from God. He was making himself available to listen.

As we approach the end of this 21-day journey, today is a good day to become quieter.

Review what you have written over the past several weeks. Read through your journal entries. Look for repeated themes. Pay attention to the Scriptures that stayed with you, the ideas that returned during prayer, the places where you felt challenged, and the areas where you experienced peace.

Do not try to manufacture an answer.

God is not asking you to force clarity.

Simply create space to listen.

PRAYER

Speak, Lord. Help me quiet fear, comparison, pressure, and my own assumptions. Give me discernment to recognize Your voice. I am listening and I want to hear what You desire to say.

DAY 20 • October 31, 2026

Whatever He Says — Obedience

John 2:5

His mother said to the servants, “Whatever He says to you, do it.”

At the wedding in Cana, a practical problem arose when the wine ran out. Mary turned to the servants and gave them a simple instruction: “Whatever He says to you, do it.”

The servants had no idea how Jesus planned to address the situation. When He instructed them to fill large waterpots with water, the direction probably did not make much sense in relation to the problem they were trying to solve.

Still, they obeyed.

Their responsibility was not to understand the entire process. Their responsibility was to follow the instruction they had been given.

As you approach your Legacy commitment, you may still have questions. That is okay.

The goal is not to reach a number that feels impressive or even one that others would consider significant. The goal is to discern what God is asking of you and then respond faithfully.

At this point in the journey, the question becomes very personal: What has God been saying to me?

Once you have clarity, obedience becomes the next step.

PRAYER

Jesus, help me respond faithfully to whatever You have been showing me. Give me courage to obey without comparing my response with anyone else's. Help me trust You with the outcome.

DAY 21 • November 1, 2026

All Things Come From You – Obedience

1 Chronicles 29:14

But who am I, and who are my people, That we should be able to offer so willingly as this? For all things come from You, And of Your own we have given You.

We have now reached the final day of this 21-day journey.

For three weeks, we have prayed, fasted, examined our hearts, reflected on faith and trust, considered generosity and sacrifice, and thought seriously about the legacy we want to leave.

Now we return to the words of David in 1 Chronicles 29.

As David and the people gave toward the temple, he stopped to acknowledge something foundational: everything they were giving had first come from God.

That truth changes how we think about stewardship.

Our income, opportunities, abilities, possessions, careers, and resources all exist because God has allowed them to be placed in our hands. We are not ultimate owners. We are stewards.

That means giving is not simply the act of losing something. It is the act of taking a portion of what God has entrusted to us and directing it toward His purposes.

Today, review your journal. Think about the themes God has highlighted. Consider the fears He has addressed, the priorities He has challenged, and the direction you have sensed.

Then ask one final question:

“Lord, what would You have me do?”

Whatever your response, let it come from prayer, conviction, faith, and obedience.

PRAYER

Father, everything I have comes from You. Thank You for the privilege of participating in what You are doing through our church. Give me clarity regarding my commitment and courage to follow through faithfully. May what we give strengthen ministry, serve our community, and bless generations to come. In Jesus' name, Amen.

FINAL LISTENING SPACE

Lord, what are You saying to me?

Take a few quiet minutes with this question. Write down what you sense God has been saying to you through these 21 days.

MY LEGACY COMMITMENT REFLECTION

Before Completing Your Pledge Card

Before completing your official pledge card, take a few moments to prayerfully review your journey.

- Before completing your official pledge card, take a few moments to prayerfully review your journey. What has God taught me about my heart?
- Where has God challenged my faith?
- What has God taught me about trust?
- What is God asking me to surrender?
- What kind of legacy do I want to help leave for the next generation?
- What do I believe God is asking my household to commit to the Legacy Campaign over the next three years?
- What practical adjustments might help us faithfully fulfill this commitment?

OUR LEGACY PRAYER

Our Legacy Prayer

Father, Thank You for every generation that came before us and for the people whose faithfulness made room for us to grow, worship, serve, and encounter You. Thank You for those who prayed, gave, taught, led, sacrificed, and believed that there would be another generation worth investing in.

Now You have given us the opportunity to do the same. Give us faith to follow where You are leading.

Give us wisdom to steward what You have entrusted to us. Give us generous hearts, willing spirits, and unity as a church family.

Keep us focused on the people and the mission behind everything we build. May children learn Your Word.

May young people discover purpose. May families find support.

May those who are hurting find healing. May disciples be formed.

May people come to know Jesus. May our community be strengthened.

May generations after us have greater opportunity to serve You because we were faithful in our time. Teach us to remember that everything we possess comes from You.

Help each of us listen carefully, respond faithfully, and give with willing hearts. Use this campaign not only to build for the next generation, but also to deepen the faith of this generation.

May everything accomplished through us bring glory to You. In Jesus' name, Amen.

BUILDING FOR THE NEXT GENERATION

HEART • FAITH • TRUST • GENEROSITY • SACRIFICE • LEGACY • OBEDIENCE

We are preparing today for ministry that will continue tomorrow. May our faithfulness become part of the story another generation tells.
